Verse 1

It feels like the end of everything
Probably not the best way to begin
Let me start this over again
Here's what I meant to say..

All the years gone into us have not been mine alone
I know.

Chorus

We can try to hide it
Try and fight it
But there's no denying it
We can lie about it, cry about it
But there's no surviving it

Verse 2

That didn't quite come out how I planned
But I'm sure you can understand
Let me take this one again
Here's what I should've said

All the years you gave me
I can't give them back to you
Who could?

Chorus

We can try to hide it
Try and fight it
But there's no denying it
We can lie about it, cry about it
But there's no surviving it

Verse 3

We realized we lived in space
Like any other planetary race
We wondered if they were looking down us
Those were the days

Remember when we talked about the funny things of life?
Do you?

Chorus

Let's lie about it, cry about it
Then let's start denying it
We've been used to hiding
Good at fighting

Maybe we can make this right. ..

Do you think we can start again?
